uneasiness. The early strength in rye opened up 2% cents and jumped up 2% cents more before the movement was checked by realizing sales. Although the trade was large and profit taking at times heavy the market maintained its strong tone throughout the session.

Additional crop complaints, due to un-the grain one to three weeks, was a factor which encouraged buying. The weather was unfavorable, lower tem-peratures and rains being reported in many sections of the belt, which will delay further farm work, already considerably hampered. With spring farm work delayed and cars still scarce it is hard to see how receipts will increase. In fact the trade is beginning to realize that there will be little improve-ment during May. Other incentives which led to buying in corn were the rise in hogs, the strong tone in Argen-ina and the rally in stocks and cotton.

Oats were again strong on late seeding prospects of decreased acreage and ight holdings. The visible supply again showed a decrease. Trading was active in that cereal and buying was of a general character. Provisions advanced on improved tone in hogs and grains

COFFEE MARKET.

The coffee market opened yesterday with un hanged prices and one lead-ing broker absorbing practically all offerings of May on the call, that demand being attributed to covering by trade or speculative near month shorts. A slight but around 11.50 for May offerings came out freely and that position broke to 14.30, or 20 points less than its initial figures. Later months held relatively steady and the feature of the business was switching from May to later deiveries and gradually increasing differences. The difference between May and March widened to 15 points, while

May was exchanged for September at 24 points. Just before the close the market broke sharply, final prices show-
